U. N. Suggests Balky Koreans Be Freed After Truce

Chinese Reds Would Be Held For 60 Days

Panmunjom, Wednesday (AP)—The U. N. Command presented a sweeping new truce proposal today providing that all Korean prisoners refusing to return to Red control would be freed immediately after an armistice.

Under the proposal, aimed at breaking the crucial prisoner exchange negotiations, balky Chinese POWs would be placed in custody of a five-nation neutral repatriation commission.

The Chinese would be held by the commission for 60 days and then would be released if they still refused to return to Red control.

The Allies flatly rejected a Communist proposal that a political conference settle the fate of prisoners persisting in their refusal to go home.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., senior Allied truce delegate, presented the lengthy document to North Korean Gen. Nam II, chief Red negotiator, at today's 11 a.m. session.

President Nominates Radford As Chairman Of Joint Chiefs In Shakeup Of Pentagon Brass

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday nominated Adm. Arthur Radford, longtime battler for naval air power, as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in a sweeping shakeup of the entire military high command.

Eisenhower's dramatic reshuffle of the top Pentagon brass—putting new men in command of the Army, Navy and Air Force—came as:

One—Welcome news to Senate Republican Leader Taft of Ohio, fulfilling his demand for a clean sweep of the Truman-appointed military hierarchy.

Two—A bitter jolt to the Air Force.

Behind the scenes, the Air Force's Ridgway will succeed Gen. J. Lawton Collins as Army chief of staff.

Ridgway will take over as chairman of the Joint Chiefs from Gen. Omar N. Bradley. He will be the first admiral to hold the post.

Ridgway, 57, is now commander-in-chief in the Pacific.

As chief of naval operations, Eisenhower picked Adm. Robert B. Carney to succeed Adm. William B. Feltcheler.

A shift in the Air Force command had already been announced last week, with Gen. Nathan Twining named to succeed Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

Government Hopes To End Red-Ink Spending In 1954; Tax Program Due Next Week

Washington, (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, in a sudden spur of optimism that puzzled some lawmakers, said yesterday the Eisenhower administration hopes to end federal red-ink spending by mid-1954.

Humphrey also disclosed that the administration will be ready to give Congress its first definite tax recommendations next week—possibly by Tuesday.

At the same time, he said, the administration will submit its long-awaited complete statement of expected federal income and expenditures.

Humphrey reiterated that the budget cannot be balanced now, but he told newsmen:

"I hope we can do it during the fiscal year (ending June 30, 1954) by reductions in spending every month."

The Cabinet officials' surprise statement came just 24 hours after Chairman Reed (R-NY) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee delivered an angry blast on the House floor accusing the Eisenhower administration of "surrendering to the spenders."

Senate Republican Leader Taft of Ohio, who sat in at the White House party, told newsmen later that the administration should be in a position to begin operations under a balanced budget by July 1, 1954. Taft thus summed up his impression of what Humphrey disclosed.

Perlo Testifies

Washington, (AP)—Victor Perlo denied yesterday he is a member now of a Red spy ring but refused to say whether he headed one while working for the government as an economist during World War II.

Now Dr. Hicks, a sincere opponent of Communism, doesn't deny the need for looking into the operations of the Kremlin conspiracy, or the right of Congress to do so. But, having himself appeared as a Congressional witness, he is convinced that the legislators are not fully qualified.

For one thing, he complains, they don't know enough about the complex subject. For another, some of them tend to be inconsiderate of the time and sensibilities of witnesses. Finally, they are not all models of moral perfection themselves.

Accordingly he dreams up a commission of supermen: professors mostly, along with experts on Communist theory and history, and a few hard-headed men of affairs. They would summon the Congressmen, one by one, and expose their education and moral limitations.

Just how that would solve the problem—to expose the Kremlin's spies, agents and techniques—he does not say.

The evasion of reality is what makes spring fantasies so pleasant while they last. In his whimsical trance, Dr. Hicks seems too eager to expose anti-Communist Congressmen to bother about exposing Communists.

But his spring fancy typifies a strange tendency that is fairly widespread. It is in line with at least two well-headed efforts already under way to "investigate the investigators" of Communism.

Democrats Ask Fine To Oust Brown

Harrisburg, (AP)—Senate Democrats yesterday demanded the arrest and dismissal of Welfare Secretary William C. Brown on grounds of misfeasance in office.

A resolution introduced in the Senate by all 18 Democrats said Brown "knowingly and deliberately" exceeded departmental appropriations made by the Legislature.

Sen. Elmer J. Holland (D-Allegany) said in a floor speech Brown spent 24 months of departmental appropriations in 22 months. Brown threatened Monday to close down state institutions unless the Legislature acts on some $1,270,000 in deficiency grants to his department.

Brown denied there has been any irregularity in his department's spending operations. He told a newsmen:

"In order to provide for the services mandated by this department, we have to have a certain number of personnel, and the reason for the deficit was because of the fact that not sufficient funds were provided in the last session to take care of the 10 per cent salary increase and the addition of a new division for the purpose of licensing and inspecting commercial boarding homes for the aged."

Brown said the cost of materials and supplies purchased for state institutions have gone up.

The resolution, referred to the Senate rules committee where it is likely to be picketed, charged Brown with causing employees of the Welfare Department to go unpaid for their services.

The document asked Gov. John S. Fine to fire his welfare secretary "for incompetence, dereliction of duty and negligence in the administration of the Department of Welfare."

The legislative scene was quiet otherwise with no new developments on a drive by Republicans to pass the barely alive 1 per cent sales tax proposal in the House.

House Republicans, however, voted to continue in session today and Thursday to keep alive the peace of the world."

The President, he said, makes the foreign policy for the most powerful nation of the world. And it's up to the citizens "to get behind the President and back him up so we can keep the peace of the world."

Truman did not mention his successor by name in a speech to the Missouri Legislature—his first public address since leaving the White House.

In another resolution sponsored by the Senate Democratic bloc, Brown was asked to undergo a mental examination for what the resolution said were "wildly and foolishly made" statements by Brown.

Brown had said it will be necessary to start closing buildings, wards and cell blocks in state institutions unless "some drastic action" is taken on appropriations by the end of the biennium May 31.

The former Labor Prime Minister threw his full support behind Prime Minister Churchill's call for Big Power talks to end the cold war, but demanded "whoever comes to this conference should come with full authority."

The House GOP leadership also refused to take time out next week for the May 19 primary. Instead of a week's recess, the General Assembly will convene on Wednesday next week and remain in session through Friday.

Scarantino Changes Plea In Fatalities

Belvidere, N. J. (AP)—John Scarantino, the Scranton, Pa., truck driver involved in an accident that killed 10 members of one family, yesterday pleaded guilty to causing death by auto.

Superior Court Judge Joseph L. Smith set May 22 for sentencing.

The 21-year-old trucker's guilty plea was entered at the beginning of the second day of selection of a Warren County jury for his trial.

Judge Smith emphasized that no commitments on the sentence had been made by the court or the state in return for the guilty plea which eliminates the need of a trial. Scarantino faces a maximum sentence of three years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Dairy farmer Clarence Matlock, his wife, five children, two sisters and mother all were killed in a collision with the truck. Scarantino was driving on March 20 on a two-lane highway in Washington Twp.

The National Safety Council called it "the greatest number of people ever to be killed as occupants of a single passenger automobile."

The Matlock family had been driving to town for shopping when the accident happened early in the evening.

The guilty plea covered the second count of an indictment, which charged Scarantino with the death of 10 persons.

The first count of the indictment, singling out one of the deaths, was dismissed Monday.

Ground Broken For First Of 500 Tobyhanna Homes

Tobyhanna—Work started here yesterday on three model homes, the first of 500 single housing units to be built at the Tobyhanna Newtown development tract by Tobyhanna Development Corp. Two corporation officials, Abe Mintz, president, and Joseph Einhorn, cost-planning engineer, consulted with Irvin C. Foster, secretary-treasurer of the Board of Supervisors of Coalbaugh Township on details. The model structures, each in a different price category, are expected to be open for public inspection in four or five weeks, Mintz said.

The model homes include a two-bedroom unit priced from $5,500 to $6,000; two-bedroom and dinette unit, $9,000 to $9,500, and three-bedroom home, $11,500 to $12,500.

Rentals will range from $79.50 for the two-bedroom unit to $92 for the larger building.

Construction of the Newtown project was instituted to satisfy demands for future housing here, necessitated by the location of a $33,000,000 U. S. Signal Corps depot slated to be completed Jan. 1, 1954.

Of the 500 houses, 300 are expected to be offered for sale and 200 will be for rental purposes.

Letters From America

This week has been designated by Governor Fine as "Letters From America Week."

In his proclamation, the governor pointed out the value of 400 million private letters going abroad every year, adding:

"To my mind, they constitute an important vehicle for conveying to those people in foreign lands vital information on our American way of life."

We were as equally astonished by that figure of 400 million letters as we were impressed by the potential impact for good which might come from such a flood of private mail.

From somewhere in memory comes a slogan: "To get a letter, you must write a letter." By that token, if some hundreds of millions of letters are sent by Americans to the individual citizens of foreign lands, it is quite likely that a similar number flows in return.

The idea causes us to wonder why we have been so careless in not having brought back with us, or kept in our reference files, the addresses of many fine citizens of other nations whom we have met in foreign service. Undoubtedly, they have wondered at times how we are faring, just as we do concerning them.

If we were to write, the letters probably would concern primarily our own activities, the welfare of our family and possibly touch upon our long-range plans and life ambitions. In so commenting, we probably would have to describe the general American scene, explain local customs and otherwise present a true picture as life courses on in the U.S.A. for the average one of us.

The replies from our friends would be in kind. Eventually as we filled in the gap of years, we would feel greater kinship and achieve greater appreciation and understanding of the life paths and challenges of each other.

As we would write, we assume that others are so writing.

Letters from America, reporting as they must on the home life and affairs of our own folks, may carry far stronger appeal than even the Voice of America in constant note that we are endeavoring to abide by the principles which we espouse and that we do seek to be good neighbors.

Pedestrian Responsibility

More and more organizations affiliated with the modern age of mechanization are interesting themselves in support of a bill before the legislators, one designed to make pedestrians equally subject to traffic regulations and thus required to obey traffic signals and to cross streets or highways only at crosswalks.

This is an excellent measure, for there can be no valid reason for a pedestrian to be independent of traffic rules whereby his negligence can produce accidents as has so frequently happened.

Pedestrian responsibility in this day of heavy traffic should be the same as that demanded of the driver, and when such responsibility is recognized and legally controlled there should be a decided improvement in the traffic record.

With all organizations exerting themselves to seek a reduction of accidents in which pedestrians are involved, it is to be expected that the legislature will take cognizance of the essential importance of such a measure.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Some Sneer, Some Don't

The boy coming home in a casket didn't "refuse to answer."

There is no sneer on his face. No, G. I. in a death struggle on Pork Chop Hill or Old Baldy says, "That's a loaded question" when asked, "Can you hold out a little longer?" No kid goes before his induction board with a defiant, "I'm no schmuck. You can't do this to me," and gets away with it. Yet the parade of grown-up Americans, living in safety and comfort, who take these leering, defiant attitudes in an authorized hunt by elected public servants for participants in a Communist conspiracy continues as a daily spectacle. What goes? How twisted can the American scene get? We pause for a reply — and expect the usual sneers.

You turn from the daily Korean casualty lists and read of the author who refuses to answer whether he would fight for America in a war with Russia . . . you see the pictures of crippled and emaciated American boys home from hellish prison camps on the page opposite the leering face of the defiant ham actor, the New York educator and the Tin Pan Alley celebrity who have defied committees of the United States Senate, leered at their procedures, lectured them on their honesty of purpose and refused to answer the simple question, "Are you a member of the Communist Party?" You watch the latest processions of draftees off to camp at the start of a journey which may end in death at "some disputed barricade," and see on a video screen a plump, well-heeled completely arrogant gent branding as "the most dastardly of human beings" a war veteran of the U. S. Army assigned by the FBI to expose Kremlin agents in the U. S. A. and mocking even a Senate committee who lost his legs in the last World War. You ask yourself, "Is this something I ate?" It seems too screwy to be true.

The other day a leading figure in a school teaching Communism denounced an ex-soldier and FBI agent as "an informer, the lowest form of life" because he had helped the FBI protect America, and then artfully dodged the question whether he would put a man who gave information to Russia in the same category. You have to see it to believe it. And it all takes place, bub, in a time of war and in an hour when the survival of the free world and the lives of millions of Americans can depend on the outcome of the struggle between Soviet Russia and the rest of the globe! You may not agree with Joe McCarthy's techniques; you may not relish so many Senatorial inquiries, but, brother, even at their worst they can come close to making the picture look as bad as the defiant witnesses themselves make it.

Nothing McCarthy, Jenner or Velde could say against the Communists and the suspect could linger as long in the public mind as the words and actions of witnesses who seem so outraged by everything except the question whether Uncle Sam is getting the better. Brother, these witnesses are the ones really alarming the people of the U. S. A.

The first thing I remember is my father taking me to see a bird's nest under an oak log," says an old letter of Henry Ford . . . "Gave him the idea for the 'Model-Tweet-Tweet'" no doubt . . . Mother's Day saw, as usual, the fellow who couldn't send his mother a dollar now and then because he couldn't afford it, but who carried a cheap geranium to her grave in his $1,000 limousine . . . Major-General Hugh J. Casey has been elected chairman of the N. Y. Transit Authority charged with solving the subway problem . . . "Casey at the Assault and Battery," says Elmer Twitchell, a veteran of a million subway batters . . . Central Park is celebrating its 100th birthday, and it can be said that it is only slightly more dangerous after all these years than when the Indians had it . . . Ballot Labels Being Placed On Machines

The job of putting ballot labels on all voting machines in the county is under way.

The Stroudsburgs should be finished by today, Chief Clerk Harry Taylor said yesterday, along with most of the southeast part of the city and perhaps portions of the north and west ends.

By tomorrow or possibly the next day, the job should be complete.

The voting machines are being sealed as they are completed, but are still subject to inspection by party officials.

Taylor said polls will be open all day on May 19, when the primary elections will be held. Hours will be 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. (DST) at all polling places in the county.

Lions Group Selects Slate Of Officers

Stroudsburg Lions met in committee sessions at the Penn-Stroud Hotel last night. The former presidents prepared a tentative list of officers for the coming year, which will be reported to the club at the session next Tuesday night.

The proposed list is as follows:

President, William Hinton; first vice president, Myron Zateen; second vice president, Floyd Butz; third vice president, Edward Dreibe; secretary, Harold Snyder; treasurer, Henry Reader; tail twister, Joseph McCluskey; lion tamer, Harold Miller; directors for two years, Joseph Kovalick and Dr. William Kopenhaver; directors for one year, Ed. Long and John Regan; assistant secretary, James Somers; bulletin editor, Henry Weider; and pianist, Al Renzis.

The committee on the program for Tuesday, May 26, held a rehearsal. This committee is in charge of New Members Night and Dr. Kopenhaver is chairman. The committee is planning a dramatic number and much interest centers in the meeting for May 26.

The Stroudsburg Lions will meet on Saturday night at the Chestnut Hill Inn in the West End, where a smorgasbord dinner will be served. The West End club will sponsor this meeting which will be Ladies Night for the zone.

Registration Date Set For Saturday

SPCA May Stockpile Bricks For Shelter

Construction Proposal Discussed

SPCA directors last night considered stockpiling of bricks toward the building of a shelter to serve the county.

The discussion followed a discussion on construction by Frank S. Lenhart, assistant secretary of the State SPCA, in Philadelphia.

Lenhart pointed out to directors and members in the meeting at the County Court House that New York City's SPCA branch had used inexpensive cinder blocks for ramps only, and had regretted it ever since.

Their million-dollar building is verminous because of the cinder block, which somehow provides haven for the bugs.

Experience has shown brick and glazed tile materials as best for animal shelter purposes, Lenhart said.

The report proved disappointing to members last night: the goal—a shelter for animal protection—had seemed much closer when considered in terms of cinder or concrete block.

Brick is more expensive, and the building of the shelter is delayed that much more, an SPCA official pointed out.

Construction of the shelter would be on Foxton Hill, where Mr. and Mrs. George Wakefield are the custodians.

Under the SPCA's present tight financial circumstances it looks as though the materials will have to be donated if any sizable quantity is to be accumulated for construction.

Members were reminded last night by Lenhart that the SPCA is not required to hold dogs at the shelter indefinitely.

In the case of dogs with licenses, the owner is notified by registered mail. He must pick up the dog within 10 days of notification or else the SPCA may dispose of it to be accumulated for construction.

The car was struck in the rear by the Stanbury car, he said, and shopped 30 or 40 feet.

Miss Stanbury, represented by George T. Robinson, contends that the accident was due in part to negligence on the part of the other driver.

Caojkowski, counseled by Forrest Mervine, contends the accident could not have been foreseen or avoided by him and that he is therefore not responsible.

Washington 6-9 — The House yesterday passed by voice vote a bill extending the doctors' draft for two years with amendments providing more liberal credit for previous military service.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, provides that up to the age of 51 years, physicians, dentists and veterinarians are subject to 24 months' military service unless they have 21 months of active duty since Sept. 16, 1940.

The bill would exempt from the draft eligible men with 21 months' active duty since Sept. 16, 1940 and require only 17 months' service of those who have served 12 months in that time.

Bernadine Sisters Consider Appeal From Tax Decision

Attorney Harold C. Edwards said yesterday he may appeal the county's decision to leave Villa of Our Lady of the Poconos on Paradise Township assessment rolls.

Edwards said he has not yet received formal notification. He asked that the establishment, operated by the Bernadine Sisters, be exempted from payment of taxes because it was a charitable institution.

Commissioners Amzi F. Altomose, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer said they did not think the property was necessary to operation of the charity, according to a spokesman for commissioners.

The stake is about $1,200 in taxes at last year's rates.

Edwards said yesterday that there were other establishments in the county which were operated on the same basis as that of the Bernadine Sisters, and these establishments were tax-exempt.

One of these, he indicated, is the Redemptorist Fathers "retreat house" at Tobyhanna. Chief Assessor George L. Smith confirmed that the Redemptorist Fathers property has indeed been off the Coolbaugh Township assessment rolls for some years.

If the villa, which was once the Meadowside Motel near Mount Pocono, goes into court it will be the second such case.

No ruling has yet been handed down on the other one, which involves the property known as Pinebrook Bible Conference Camp, operated by Percy Crawford north of East Stroudsburg.

The Pinebrook case went into court in Monroe County when former county commissioners refused to exempt the Crawford properties from taxation.

The ruling was appealed in Monroe County Court, and the taxes have been paid in escrow ever since.

About two weeks ago commissioners were visited by Arlington W. Williams, who represents Crawford in the matter.

Williams indicated there was possibility of a settlement of the tax

The Daily Record's Home And Building Page

Mr. Handyman Important In Modern Life

Mr. Do-it-yourself has captured the attention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. This home handyman is doing so much work that the newspapers of the country have decided he needs more team work. Through their Bureau of Advertising they plan to present you and me with more graphic portrayals of attractive supplies and tools, figuring that we spend on the average more than $75 apiece every year for the stuff we use in our household chores.

According to their figuring, Brothers, we certainly are big shots. We spent 2½ billion dollars last year for lumber and building supplies. We laid out more than a half a billion for paint and wall paper. The floor tile and wall tile we installed ourselves in our kitchen, bathrooms, basements, laundries and whereton, cost us an aggregate of more than 100 million. And our home workbenches—where friend wife says we run away from realities—well, our workbenches and power tools cost us 80 million dollars last year.

So put this all together and you have an average tab of $77.10 per household for the year—with some of us spending less and some much more.

"Take a look at Mr. Handyman himself," says the publishers bureau. "His home is his hobby. He has more money, but wants to stretch it—by patching a pipe, installing an attic light or building a fireplace himself."

Well, they certainly got our number. And they add that skyrocketing labor costs in the past decade, with skilled labor hard to get, has made us what we are today. That's probably right, no doubt. And they mention an "owner's pride of possession" making him spend more time and money on his home. Banks, please take notice. We all can use some backing.

Apparently this clean-up, paint-up, fix-up mania is spreading faster than the latest song hit. "There's a workshop in every fourth house on the block," says the publishers bureau, quoting Sales Management. "And there are plenty more in the making."

If you are just an armchair handyman, don't get an inferiority complex, because this pertains to you, too. Even if you don't tackle the job yourself—the patching of a neck-breaking roof, or the cleaning out of a cess pool—you want to know what you're spending your money for.

But believe it or not, your neighbor who puts on overalls in his spare time has turned out to be a bigger consumer—when grouped with his pals in overalls—than big industry itself.

For instance, paint. In the last year, 65 per cent of all paint sold was applied "by Mr. Handyman," according to a Business Week survey. In the same period, 60 percent of all wallpaper was applied by the home owner himself. Ten years ago this figure was only 28 per cent.

"Last year," says these experts, "223 million square feet of asphalt, floor tile was self-applied." If you tried this job, you probably wished it was self-applying. But 10 years ago the total production of this industry was only 90 million square feet.

And we "do-it-yourself" fans accomplished as much for the plywood industry; having used up 250 million square feet, "self-applied" they jokingly say, while 10 years ago the industry turned out only 340 million square feet. They ought to give up a plywood medal.

As for power tools, the industry estimates that home sales last year amounted to 80 million dollars compared with 6 million in 1947.

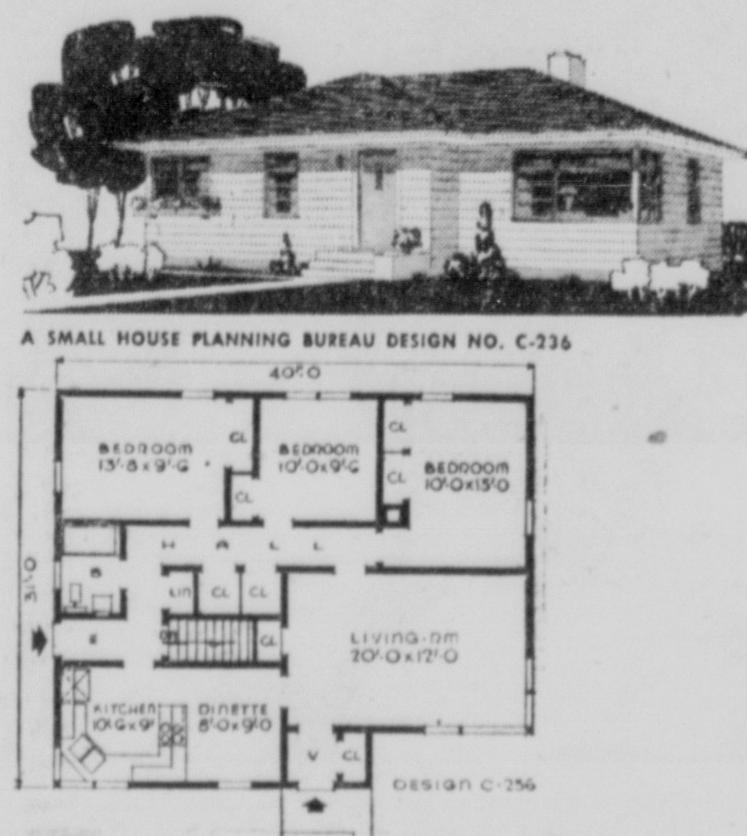

What householder won't agree with the publishers on this program? Show us how we can save hard earned cash by doing things ourselves and we're in the market.

Edward H. Hurgeson, director of the retail department of the Bureau of Advertising sums up our importance as follows:

"Every hour of the shopping day, do-it-yourself customers alone buy a million dollars worth of lumber and building materials—to repair their homes, build a garage, fix the front porch, or make their own bookcases."

"Every hour of the shopping day, do-it-yourself customers alone spend $200,000 for paint and wallpaper which they apply themselves."

"And every hour of the shopping day, do-it-yourself customers alone

Video Antenna Not Eviction Grounds, Court Ruling Says

Plan Piping With Eye To Future

The fact that a tenant has erected a television aerial on the roof of a dwelling is not adequate grounds for ejection proceedings on the part of the landlord.

This ruling, made by a justice of the peace in St. Paul, Minn., is believed to be the first decision of its kind in the country, according to Billboard, the theatrical trade paper.

The case was that of a landlady who sought to oust the tenant of a first-floor apartment in a duplex dwelling because, without her permission, he had put up a TV antenna on the roof.

The justice of the peace ruled that the chimney, roof and walls of a duplex are portions used in common by the tenants, along with hallways, yards and outside stairs.

So long as the tenant erected the aerial without damaging the building or depriving other tenants of equal privileges, there was no violation of his lease, the court decided.

Release Stuck Window Sash

When a window sash sticks because of hardened paint along the seams, try to free it by moving the bottom of the sash sideways. Usually there is sufficient clearance at the base of the frame to allow the sash to be moved enough to break the film of paint.

Make Chimneys Safer

Clay chimney tops and spark arresters that are immune to various acids and chemicals found in incinerator chimneys are now being introduced in various parts of the United States. The tops are suitable for all types of gas and oil heating equipment and also can be used for outdoor fireplaces.

Check Table Tops

Check the surface material closely when buying work tables, end tables, occasional tables or even dinette tables. For longest use, the table top should be cigarette-burn proof, alcohol proof, and resistant to mild acids.

Favor Yellow Tile

American housewives under 30 have chosen yellow as their favorite color for clay tile kitchen wall coverings, according to the Tile Council of America.

Wax Furniture Feet

When waxing floors, don't forget to do the "soles" of the furniture's feet. If they are waxed, too, the furniture is less likely to mark the floors when it's moved around.

Spend thousands of dollars for floor coverings, wall tile, power tools, roofing and siding, unpainted furniture, garden supplies, work clothes, insulation—for hundreds of items which they have learned to use themselves to build, rebuild, renovate, fix, clean or adjust.

Since industry have developed the mechanical brain, all we need is some mechanical brawn.

"Every hour of the shopping day, do-it-yourself customers alone spend $200,000 for paint and wallpaper which they apply themselves."

"And every hour of the shopping day, do-it-yourself customers alone

House Roof Should Be First Class

Next to the foundation, the roof of a house is about as important as any other one part of the structure. The homeowner who has a first-class roof will have fewer repair problems, while a poor roof can be the source of continuing expense and trouble.

A roof has three primary specifications: one, it must be absolutely wind-and-weather-tight; two, it should be highly resistant to fire; and three, it should be strong, definitely pitched and drained.

Roofing is available in a wide variety of materials, including asbestos, asphalt, metal, slate and wood shingles, sheet metal, clay tile, tarred felt and gravel or roll roofing is laid on sheathing nailed to the rafters. In the case of wood shingles, the sheathing boards are laid two or three inches apart to permit air circulation and retard rot in the shingles. For all other types of roof covering, the sheathing is laid tight, board to board.

The rich natural grain of mahogany lends itself admirably to all kinds of blonde finishes. Walnut, in various shades, is also quite popular.

Most popular designs for plate decoration are new Pennsylvania Dutch decals, with Peter Hunt brush strokes around the edge of the plate, to blend with either modern or provincial interiors.

Light Finish In Furniture In Demand

China-painting, the universal hobby of crinoline days, is enjoying an enthusiastic revival in a modern streamlined version. The new hobby, decal plate decoration, requires only inexpensive materials available at local variety or dime stores—colorful decals, plates, and wire to make the hangers.

Limed oak is currently very popular because the color is so well adapted to modern styles of furniture. Silver oak is another popular color, especially for occasional pieces. This effect is obtained by using a basic mahogany finish on the oak and then overtoning it with a light color.

The rich natural grain of mahogany lends itself admirably to all kinds of blonde finishes. Walnut, in various shades, is also quite popular.

Easy-to-make decal "picture" plates find favor as home decorations, or for sale at club and church fairs or bazaars. You simply dip the plate in water and apply the designs to the face of a low-cost tion scheme which depend on the general plan arrangement. If there are many bad door locations, it's an indication the plan isn't too good itself.

A door will let you pass through if it is 18 inches wide; but moving furniture into a room takes a width of at least 32 inches.

Wolves come down from the mountains in Italy in winter to kill sheep and some have been reported in the suburbs of Rome. Take a hall in a small home, for instance. It's main use is circulation. So it should take up a minimum of space. But remember—furniture-moving requires a hall-width of 36 to 40 inches.

Stairs are for circulation pure and simple. In judging your home plan, the stairs should be studied for safety and economy of space. Steep or winding stairs are dangerous, absence of a handrail makes them more dangerous.

Like halls, stairs should be at least 36 inches wide to permit moving furniture.

Doors are a part of the circula-plate. The result, in addition to being a delightful beauty spot for wall decoration, is washable, durable and sunfast.

Hobbyists are creating their own interesting variations. Outer edges may be decorated by applying ruffled fabric with tape. Some prefer to use new decal borders to match the rich colors of the central picture decal.

Delaware Water Gap

N. E. Burd
Phone 3093-J

A one-lane traffic bottleneck down in the Gap was reported as the reason for the tie-up of traffic on Foxtown Hill and Broad Street Sunday afternoon. Residents of Foxtown Hill said that the cars were unable to move from 2 p.m. until nearly 7:30 p.m. While not quite so jammed on Broad Street, the crawling pace of travel led many motorists to do some angry horn-blowing.

The auxiliary bridge of the new road, over Cherry Valley Creek on the Gehm farm, is about half done. The three high wings are finished, one still in canvas covering; and the form is erected for the fourth. About one-fourth of the framework for the span of the bridge has been set up. A pump is kept going day and night to keep water from rising about this new work. Beside the bridge works is a good firm road which takes one from the Gehm farm up to the Castle Inn. Under it two huge pipes carry creek water. When the bridge and new road are finished, this temporary road will be plowed up and the land returned to farm uses.

Daniel Ellis, who suffered a broken nose while working with a rock-breaker on the new road, is recovering from that injury without apparent mark of it. Mr. Ellis has been able to go on working.

Cherry Valley Street could be re-named Tulip Street, so many residents there have fine displays of those blooms. On the high bank at Lehr's, along the side of Mrs. Kuntz' brick home, beside the Robert Clarkson home, in front of the white picket fence at Mayor Smith's—there they are enhanced by masses of varied colored pansies. George Hay has a display of tulips in front of his home. Other bits of beauty are the pink dogwood tree in Joe Hauser's yard, a huge white dogwood tree almost hidden along the creek at Mrs. H. W. Brodhead's, and forget-me-nots in massed bloom at Mrs. Faulkenhagen's.

Thursday, May 7, marked the fourth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kaiser. Mr. Kaiser served with Co. G, 28th Division in Germany as a corporal. He saw his daughter, Roxanne, for the first time when she was six years old in July, 1952.

Birthdays this month: William Heitler, III, May 8; Ann Chamberlain, JoAnne Jennings, Harvey Rotzel, Beverly Robinson, May 9; Lucille Williams, May 10; Mrs. Stella Bisbing, Russell Shellenberger, Mrs. John Motts, former resident now in Mountaintown, all May 12; John Storni, May 13; Mrs. Orien Lambert, May 15; and Mrs. Clarence Newhart, May 16.

George Lee has built new steps at his home. They are of brick and concrete and so wide they could do service as small porches leading to the main front porch.

New road workers are still removing, by blasting, rock from the former River View Hotel site. The new road has been built over a well that is a thousand feet deep and could be the source of water in drought emergency. Two other smaller wells covered by the road are on the Pam Wagner and the Drake property.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hasuer, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. LaBar, Linda and Peter, attended Sunday School Sunday and then drove to Princeton, N. J., to the home of the Hauser's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hauser. From there the group drove to Washington Crossing to enjoy a picnic dinner.

Mrs. Layton Zimmerman and Jean of Minisink Hills, spent Sunday with Mrs. Zimmerman's mother, Mrs. Harvey Rotzel.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gardner, of New York City, expect to spend part of Mr. Gardner's vacation in the Gap at the home of Mrs. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Leffler. At present they are at Tides Inn, Virginia, for the week and will spend next weekend at Kirkridge with a group from their Brooklyn church, the Congregational Church. Their Gap visit will follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waite and sons came up from Quakertown, Pa., to spend Mother's Day with Mrs. Waite's mother, Mrs. Charles Rapp.

Kunkletown Church To Celebrate 174th Anniversary Sunday

Services To Be Conducted During Week

Kunkletown — A week-long rededication program of the Lutheran-Reformed Church here opens Sunday as the edifice and its congregations mark the 174th anniversary.

Alternating services each Sunday during the year, the pastors and their respective parishioners will join for the celebration to dedicate repairs over the past four and a half years which have totalled over $31,000.

Rev. Adam Bohner, pastor of the Brodheads-Hamilton charge of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, and Rev. James Laubach, pastor of Pleasant Valley Lutheran charge, will conduct services on an alternating basis.

The program opens Sunday at 2 p.m. with Rev. Bohner in charge and the principal address by Rev. Perry L. Smith, D.D., of Philadelphia. A son of the local congregation, Dr. Smith is now secretary of promotion of the Eastern Area, Evangelical and Reformed Church. Music will be by the local choir, directed by Martin Eck.

At 8 p.m. Sunday Rev. Laubach will be in charge and Rev. Claude Schick, of Philadelphia will speak. He is acting secretary of the Pennsylvania Lutheran Ministerium.

Services continue Tuesday at 8 p.m. with Prof. John R. Weinlick, Ph.D., professor of historical theology at Moravian Seminary as the speaker. Rev. Bohner will preside and Prof. Weinlick will review the local origin, tracing the organization of the Moravian Church among the Indians. Greetings from neighboring pastors also will be included in the program.

Concluding services are set for Sunday, May 24 when the actual rededication occurs at 2:30 p.m. Dr. Augusta Welsh, pastor of Christ Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bethlehem will speak. Rev. Bohner will have charge of the dedication.

The concluding services at 8 p.m. Sunday, May 24 will feature an address by Rev. Elton Angstead, former pastor. He currently is at Sunnyside, Pa. Rev. Laubach will preside.

Scheduled for dedication are the following:

A heating system and renovations to the basement, costing $3,050.19; kitchen equipment furnished by the Ladies Aid, $1,146.78; chairs for the basement, $475.94; labor and material for church renovations, $5,223.16; organ, $3,595; chimes, donated by the choir, $400; memorial windows given by various members, $3,701; pews, altar rail, choir screens, given by members and organizations, $6,165; carpet, $1,760; light, donated by the Ladies Aid, $1,248; and painting of the kitchen and Sunday School rooms. Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College came up with its most impressive baseball victory of the present campaign yesterday, when the Warriors scored a 4-3 decision over the University of Scranton on the Normal Hill field. Bob Hartman's homer in the seventh round was the big blow in a winning cause, as it came with two mates on the base paths. The homer cleared the left field fence at a spot that prior to yesterday had been reserved for two base hits.

Coach George Ockershausen decided to call anything over the left field fence a home run and he made the decision just in time to save the day for the Warriors. Scranton also homered in the same spot, but the solid pitching of Jim Passaro and John Zawatsky, plus some fine support by the Warriors, proved too much for the Royals. Pete Tierno, Scranton hurler, suffered his second setback without a victory, although the little right hander almost wasn't around at the end.

Lyle Krall, who played a fine defensive game at shortstop for the Warriors, lined a torrid smash through the box in the sixth inning. The ball was hit with such force that Tierno was knocked flat on his back by the force of the impact. The fielding genie of the day was turned in by Sal LaSpina, Scranton left fielder. LaSpina raced back to the fence in the eighth, pushed away the shrubbery and jumped high into the air to rob Harold "Hal" Sisco, ESSTC third sacker, of a home run with a great catch.

Dick Bachell caught a good game in the absence of Hobart "Hobe" Hutchins, the regular receiver, who was in the Philadelphia area being interviewed for a teaching position. Hutchins arrived back about the fourth inning, but wasn't pressed into service. Pete Giorant and Roland Hess, ESSTC students, were complimented for their work as umpires in last Sunday's Pocono Mountains League baseball game between Kunkletown and Reeder's. Hess is also the official scorer for the ESSTC baseball squad.

East Stroudsburg High was limited to one hit yesterday by the pitching of Coplay's Bob Nemeth, but a second hit was missed only by inches. Dick Transue lashed a long drive down the left field line in the fifth and completely circled the bases before the ball was returned to the infield. All the action was taking place despite the fact that the plate umpire had ruled the hit foul. Dick went down on strikes on the next two pitches. Harold White's single to left, the only hit, was an official safety without the slightest doubt.

Billy "Bump" Metzger, Stroudsburg's senior southpaw, gave another of his outstanding pitching performances yesterday, as the slightly built hurler limited Lehighton to four singles and no runs as the Mountaineers finished on the long end of a 4-0 count. The win was the fourth of the present campaign for Metzger, who has lost only one game. The Tannersville entry in the Pocono Mountains League was undoubtedly happy to see that Karl Weingartner, Stroudsburg High shortstop, had shaken his batting slump with a perfect three-for-three day at the plate.

Jim "Red" Makosky's hitting streak was snapped after three games. The Mountaineers complete their season on Saturday, at Emmaus. Fred Fehr, well known stock car driver who is scheduled to appear at Stroudsburg Speedway under the lights each Saturday this summer, won the 30-lap feature in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium recently. The half-mile Stroudsburg Speedway is scheduled to open the season a week from this coming Saturday.

Dominic Della Rocca, former star shortstop with the Stroudsburg Poconos, of the defunct North Atlantic League, was recently optioned by Reading of the Eastern League a class "A" circuit, to Portsmouth, Va., of the class "B" Piedmont League. Bob Rundle, a former resident of Stroudsburg, now living in Reading, forwarded a clipping of the Della Rocca option to this column. Art Wall, who is carrying the Pocono Manor name on the pro tournament circuit, finished in 22nd place in the recent Ardmore Open with a 295 score.

A total of 55 members of the Biddle Basketball League were present at the hot dog roast held at Stroudsburg Playground last night. All hot dogs and birch beer were consumed just before the rains hit the area. The WVPO team was honored for winning the championship with a trophy. Joe Whalen, sports announcer at WVPO, accepted the trophy in behalf of the winning contingent. All box scores, both baseball and softball, must be filled out completely, in regards to at bats, runs, hits, putouts, assists and errors before they will be published for the remainder of the season.

ESSTC Scores Four Times In Seventh To Sink Scranton, 4-3

Four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning yesterday enabled East Stroudsburg State Teachers College to score a 4-3 victory over the University of Scranton, on the Normal Hill field. It was the fourth win in eight outings for the Warriors this season.

Ford Stops Tribe On Scratch Hit

New York (3)—A scratch infield single by rival pitcher Early Ford ruined Ed "Whitney" Ford of a no-hitter last night as the young left-hander hurled the New York Yankees to a 7-0 triumph over the Cleveland Indians before 55,459 fans, the largest crowd of the 1953 baseball season.

Wynn led off the Indians' sixth with a roller down the third base line that eluded the charging Ford.

Milwaukee Slams Giants

Milwaukee (3)—Rookie Bob Buhl threw a two-hitter in his initial major league start for Milwaukee last night, whipping the New York Giants, 8-1, before 29,967 fans shivering in 40-degree temperatures at County Stadium.

Charles Wins Decision

Toledo, O., (3)—Ezzard Charles, former world heavyweight champion, came back strongly in the last five rounds last night to gain a unanimous decision over Bill Gilliam. Charles weighed 189½, Gilliam 210½.

Greene-Dreher Takes Measure Of Barrett

Canadians — Greene-Dreher, Sterling High scored in all but two innings here yesterday and took the measure of Barrett, 8-1, in a baseball battle held here on the losing club's home grounds.

Greene-Dreher jumped on Phil Price for eight hits and four runs in the first two innings and the outcome of the game was never in doubt the remainder of the distance.

Barrett averted a shutout by picking up a single run in the last frame.

Insurance

Greene-Dreher added insurance runs by scoring twice in the third and two times in the visiting half of the sixth frame.

The victory was the first of the season for Greene-Dreher, to go with one setback.

Action was halted after six innings due to the threat of a storm.

Marciano Favored To Retain Heavyweight Title Against Walcott In Chicago Ring On Friday

By Jack Hand

Chicago (AP)—Heavyweight king "Rocky" Marciano and ex-champ Jersey Joe Walcott finished the heavy work yesterday for Friday's 15-round title rematch at Chicago Stadium.

Because of the one-month postponement due to Marciano's nose injury, it had been a long training grind for both principals. All hands concerned were anxious to get down to business with the six-round gloves.

Nobody has been breaking down any doors trying to buy $30 tickets but interest in the match seems to be picking up. The customers' early indifference was attributed to the high ringside tab and the severe letdown when the "Chuck" Davey balloon burst against Kid Gavilan.

Cash On Hand

Tommy King of the International Boxing Club's publicity department checked the till and reported $336,000 in cash already "in." On Sunday Truman Gibson, IBC secretary, estimated "close to $100,000 in cash and commitments." They probably will settle for a $500,000 gate by Friday, plus the $300,000 extra for radio-TV with the Chicago area blacked out on TV.

Despite the three to one odds favoring Marciano, there was solid optimism in the camp of the 39-year-old Walcott who was trying to become the first man ever to win back the heavyweight title.

Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, called Jersey Joe a "cinch." He predicted Marciano would come tearing in and be sorry he came in so fast.

Up at Holland, Mich., where Marciano has become almost as important an attraction as the annual tulip festival, they expect the champ to flatten Jersey Joe faster than last time. It took him 13 rounds to do the trick in Philadelphia last September.

In view of the sensational nature of their first match, it was difficult to explain the lopsided odds. Apparently many folks made snap judgment that "he'll do it quicker next time" and never changed their minds.

Memory

Newsmen got a chance to refresh their memory about the first fight Monday when the films were given a private showing in a downtown theater.

Walcott's clean knockdown of Marciano in the first round with a meat cleaver left hook jarred the complacency of some Marciano pickers. The punch landed a bit high or the fight might have been over then and there.

Deadlock

Roy Campanella, Dodger catcher on a great hitting streak, hammered a run-scoring double during a three-run sixth inning and also singled in the 10th. He collected the two hits in four official trips and ran his league-leading runs-batted-in total to 40.

INVESTIGATE THE INVESTIGATORS?

by Cornell University. Recently the Ford Foundation earmarked fifteen million dollars for the same noble purpose.

No foundation has as yet thought of investing such an incredible sum in the fight against Communism.

The Hicks theory, though he seems unaware of it, is really an attack on American democratic processes.

Its logic demands government by an elite—by the most knowledgeable, tactful and moral people.

The kind of people, alas, who are too rarely elected as legislators in the rough-and-tumble of politics, and who too rarely head up important committees in the hit-and-miss of seniority rules.

If the committees looking into Communism are to be exposed as unqualified, why not the myriad other committees dealing with less vital matters?

After all, the legislators probing

aspects of Korea, foreign policies, political corruption, taxes, appropriations and a hundred other subjects are not necessarily the top experts in those fields and not necessarily without stains on their personal records.

We can carry that logic a step further. The men and women who fill our various law-making bodies cannot in the nature of the case be well qualified on the many problems they must solve as best they can.

Haled before citizens' committees, they would probably make a sorry spectacle, as compared, let us say, with university faculties.

Yet no one in his senses proposes to turn over the whole law-making business—of which investigations are an integral part—to the universities. We take the risks of democratic elections as the price of maintaining popular, as against elite, rule.

The telltale fact is that those who clamor for investigations of Communists are not concerned with legislative committees in general. They are not alarmed by the comparative ignorance or boorishness of solons dealing with any of a hundred important subjects.

They become alarmed only when the subject is Communism and the discommoded witnesses are persons suspected of complicity in the Red conspiracy. In that area they would have Congress remain inert and helpless until the luck of elections throws up legislators they consider ideally equipped.

Among 158,000,000 Americans we could certainly find men more qualified to look into Communism than Messrs. McCarthy, Velde and Jenner. But they happen to be the Congressmen assigned to the task.

If they are stymied, there will be no one else to do it. With all their human limitations, they deserve the tolerance usually given to other committees dealing with other national interests as a matter of course. They should be given large enough funds to obtain the expert knowledge and skills they may lack.

I do not imply that legislators, whatever they may be investigating, should be immune to criticism. That, too, is part of our democratic process.

LeRoy Mikels To Speak On Blood Program

Bangor — The Kiwanis Club of this borough will hear of Monroe County's Red Cross civilian blood donor program Thursday at 6:30 p.m. when they meet at the Colonial Hotel.

LeRoy Mikels, Monroe County chairman of the Red Cross blood bank is scheduled to address Kiwanians and ask their assistance in establishing a blood bank system for Bangor area residents who received blood transfusions at Monroe County General Hospital.

The cooperation of Northampton County people is being urged for the May 26 bloodmobile visit to East Stroudsburg Methodist Church where the goal of 150 pints will prevail between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Mikels is expected to point out that anyone receiving transfusions in the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg is not charged for the blood, or asked to replace it.

The donation comes from the county Red Cross chapter's bank. And because of the number of Northampton County people receiving transfusions here, the appeal for volunteers to replenish the stock is being sounded in Bangor, Pen Argyl, Portland and Mount Bethel areas.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your name and add them together. If the sum is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 4. The result is your beginning letter. Now count the letters in the center of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
